THE ENGLISH AMERICAN

"Everybody should be adopted.
That way you can meet your birth parents
when you're old enough to cope with them."

Alison Larkin thought she was an English rose.....only to discover that she was actually an American Redneck!!

Adopted at birth and raised in England, she discovered her roots in Bald Mountain, Tennessee. The English American is loosely based on the unique true story of her return to America to meet her birth mother.

After a successful stage career in the UK, Alison is now one of America's most exciting up-and-coming stand-up comedians. Combining stand-up comedy and theatre, she delivers a passionate, witty and enthralling tale which takes an honest look at the divide between them and us.

Expect large laughs - with fries.

"Alison Larkin is brilliant. Deeply comic...."

The LA Times

"Hysterically funny, bi-hemispheric comedienne"
